THE ANNUAL REPORT

The Community Police Review Commission (CPRC) describes and provides an overview of its principal activities in its 2014 Annual Report. As mandated by Charter Section 810, the CPRC prepares and submits this report to the Mayor and City Council.

The CPRC continues to focus on its mission of promoting public confidence in the professionalism and accountability of the sworn staff of the Riverside Police Department.

Contact Commission staff at (951) 826-5509 or via e-mail at cprc@riversideca.gov for additional information or questions. Many answers to frequently asked questions are also available on our website at www.riversideca.gov/cprc.

About the Commission

The City Council's passage of Ordinance No. 6516 in April 2000, created the Community Police Review Commission and amended Title 2 of the Riverside Municipal Code by adding Chapter 2.76. One of 13 boards and commissions, the Community Police Review Commission was created to promote effective, efficient, trustworthy, and just law enforcement in the City of Riverside.

Mission

The mission of the Community Police Review Commission is to promote public confidence in the professionalism and accountability of the sworn staff of the Riverside Police Department (RPD). The CPRC accomplishes this mission by conducting an independent review of officer-involved death (OID) cases and citizen's complaints. The CPRC has the power to contract with independent investigators on OIDs or complaints when deemed appropriate and necessary by the CPRC or the CPRC Manager. The CPRC may recommend changes in RPD policy and maintains community relationships through continuous public outreach efforts.

Purpose

By ordinance, the purpose of the Community Police Review Commission is:

"...to promote effective, efficient, trustworthy, and just law enforcement in the City of Riverside, and to bring to the attention of the City its findings and recommendations in regard to law enforcement policies and practices. Further, it is the purpose of this Ordinance to ensure good relations between those who enforce the laws and the diverse populace whom they serve so that the public will take pride in local law enforcement and those who enforce the laws will take pride in their service to the public."

The Commission also serves the community by providing a forum whereby citizens can express their opinions regarding the Police Department, its operation, and personnel.

Structure of the Commission

The Commission is made up of nine citizens of the City of Riverside who are appointed to four-year terms as Commission members by the City Council. There is at least one member from each ward in the City. The terms are staggered so that, except for one year, three Commission member terms expire each year. As with other commissions, members do not receive compensation. A Manager and Sr. Office Specialist are funded in the City Manager's Office to provide members of the Commission with all necessary staff support.

The Commission is independent in that it makes its findings and issues policy recommendations independent of any outside influence. Other duties and responsibilities are guided by the Riverside Municipal Code, Chapter 2.76, California Government Code 3300 et. Seq., and applicable Penal Code sections and case law and Peace Officer Standards Training (POST) guidelines and regulations.

The Community Police Review Commission's total budget appropriation approved by the City Council for FY 2013-2014 was $300,994 and FY 2014-2015 is $253,016.

Who does the Commission Represent?

The Commission is designed to be able to carry out the charge "to promote effective, efficient, trustworthy and just law enforcement in the City of Riverside." In other words, the Commission's primary function is to increase public trust towards the Riverside Police Department. It seeks to give the public the assurance that any allegations of misconduct lodged against a sworn officer will be fairly and thoroughly investigated. The Commission is not an adversarial body. It represents the community's perspective on the complaint investigation process -- hence its name, "Community Police Review Commission."

When the Commission receives the investigative report on a complaint, the CPRC Manager reviews it for thoroughness and writes an executive summary for the Commission members. The Commission then reviews the allegations in each case and makes a recommended finding to the City Manager. During this review process, the Commission also critiques the quality of the investigation and the investigative process. This review and comments by the Commission members gives City and Police Department management the advantage of having a perspective that is not found in most communities.

In short, the Commission offers a community perspective of the Police Department that is available to the citizens of Riverside, the policy makers, City and Police Department managers, and line police personnel.

Message from the Chair

by Robin Jackson

It has truly been a privilege and my pleasure to serve as Chair of the Riverside Community Police Review Commission for a second term. I thank Vice Chair, Robin Jackson, for her untiring support and to the Community Outreach Coordinator, Jane Adams, for stepping into a natural role and doing it with the "Adams' touch". I thank my fellow Commissioners for electing me and for their exemplary dedication to the mission of which we have been charged.

As Commissioners complete their terms and new Commissioners come aboard, it is my opinion that the Commission's 1) cohesiveness, 2) vision, and 3) actions have exceeded expectations and have risen to a new level during my tenure.

1) Cohesiveness, in terms of the Commission means, a solid body working toward common goals. The goals are to BRIDGE the gaps between citizens and the police by improving communication, promoting understanding and confidence. In 2012, I coined what each of the letters represent in "BRIDGE". Broaden the knowledge base of current and past issues concerning citizen-police interaction; Relay and share this knowledge with the community; Improve citizen-police interaction; Develop and promote confidence; Gain the community's respect and trust; and Empower and enable the community to communicate effectively. Together, the Commission works to achieve these goals. The process of achieving these goals is ongoing and many strides have been made.

2) Vision means what one sees occurring in the future, and

3) Actions speak to how you expect the vision to come to fruition. This leads us back to the "BRIDGE". Reaching out to the community is a pathway in developing relationships. Reaching out to the Police Department is also a pathway in developing relationships. Bringing them together to discuss issues provides a platform for change.

Additionally, in my last year's Message, I indicated that the Commission was seeking to host the 2014 NACOLE Conference (National Association of Civilian Oversight of Law Enforcement) in Riverside. The Commission submitted its bid, but unfortunately we were not selected and NACOLE 2014 will be held in Kansas City, MO. The Commission could not be discouraged by the loss. We are currently working on the NACOLE 2015 request for proposal. We have support from the community, local government, and police department. I look forward to the Commission hosting the 21st Annual NACOLE Conference in 2015. Stay tuned!

As in last year's Message, the Commission noted through the review of officer-involved death cases, citizen case review, and by community testimony, that RPD frequently comes in to contact with persons displaying symptoms associated with mental health illness. It is still my belief that more in-depth training on mental health issues and greater collaboration with mental health workers are essential and necessary components in understanding how to handle contact with these citizens to avoid negative outcomes.

Message from the Chair—continued

The Commission extends a special thanks to all concerned citizens, and to community activist Mr. Bill Howe for taking special interest and care in the daily lives of Riverside's citizens. The Commission also thanks RPD Assistant Chief Chris Vicino and Lt. Bruce Loftus for their regular attendance at Commission meetings. Lastly, we thank the Commission's staff: Frank Hauptmann, Community Police Review Commission (CPRC) Consulting Manager and Ms. Phoebe Sherron, CPRC Sr. Office Specialist, for their support.

The Commission invites and encourages Riverside residents and members of the public, in general, to come to the CPRC meetings as the importance of community involvement cannot be overstated. Regular public meetings are held on the fourth Wednesday of each month and the agendas are published in advance of these meetings. Public portions of our meetings are audio recorded and archived. To access the items online, please visit the CPRC website at www.riversideca.gov/cprc.

Training, Seminars, and Conferences

In 2014, the Commission hosted a training presentation conducted by the Riverside Police Department (RPD) on its Early Warning System. Additionally, several Commissioners attended the two-day Mental Health Training Sessions at the Riverside Police Department by RPD and presented by Pat McCarthy Productions staff. Several Commissioners also attended the annual NACOLE Conference (National Association for Civilian Oversight of Law Enforcement) hosted by the City of Kansas City, Missouri.

The Commission's goal is to focus and broaden overall knowledge on current issues and subject matter — to improve communication, promote understanding and confidence, and build bridges between the citizens and the police. Therefore, training, seminars, and conferences on current and past topics are important tools and are essential for the continued growth and learning of the Commission, the community, and the police as a whole. Understanding and learning from past issues enable the community and police to confront present practices and ideally prevent the same undesired problems from recurring. The Commission endeavors to articulate and share this knowledge with the Community to improve citizen-police interaction. Training, seminars, and conferences are designed to educate and facilitate the following:

- Broaden the knowledge base of current and past issues concerning citizen-police interaction;
- Relay and share this knowledge with the community.
- Improve citizen-police interaction;
- Develop and promote confidence;
- Gain the community's respect and trust; and
- Empower and enable the community to communicate effectively.

Training will continue to be an on-going process and standard training topics will be repeated periodically for incoming Commissioners as well as to serve as refresher training for incumbent Commissioners.

The combination of "Commission – Training, Conferences and Seminars" and "Community Outreach" parallel and strengthen the core fundamental values and mission of the Community Police Review Commission resulting in positive police reform, police policy and procedure recommendations, and the promotion of community trust, confidence, and constructive involvement.

Commission Relations

The Commission has a dual task of maintaining relations with both the community, to which the Commission members belong and serve, as well as with the Riverside Police Department. Maintaining relations with the police can be particularly challenging because law enforcement is a highly structured enterprise, encompassing substantial rules, policies, procedures, training practices, and approaches. Learning the “landscape” can be difficult for Commission members.

Commissioners are also challenged to understand community relations that may not parallel their personal experiences with the police. The Commission endeavors to reach out into all segments of the community to listen for concerns and to provide information that will improve police and community relations. Commissioners are strongly encouraged to continue to attend community and neighborhood meetings and are available to make presentations to interested groups.

Concurrently, the police oversight function can create a response of wariness on the part of police. Most police officers do not have personal contact with Commission members and most members know only a few officers. Ride-alongs continue to be one of the most effective bridges in improving relations between police and the Commission. Commission members are strongly encouraged to participate on a ride-along in the first few months of Commission membership. The experience serves several purposes. Both the officer and the Commission member have the opportunity to personalize police review. Officers learn that members are generally empathetic, concerned, and open to learning and understanding. Commission members have a chance to see, first-hand, the demands on officers in their daily routines and to hear their concerns and views.

Commission members have overwhelmingly reported with strong enthusiasm about their ride-along experiences.

In 2010, the City of Riverside appointed Sergio Diaz as Chief of Police (former Deputy Chief of the Los Angeles Police Department), Christopher Vicino as Assistant Chief of Police, (former Assistant Chief of the Pasadena Police Department) and Jeff Greer as Deputy Chief (former Commander with the Los Angeles Police Department). In addition, Riverside Police Department's Captain Mike Blakely was promoted to the position of Deputy Chief. The CPRC looks forward to continuing a partnership with the Command Staff of the Police Department as we work toward enhancing police community relations.

The Department's Community Services Bureau has coordinated its community programs such as Citizens' Academy, Neighborhood and Business Watch, Teen 2 Teen, and Opportunity

The Complaint and Review Process

The Community Police Review Commission was designed primarily as a “monitoring” body with the power to conduct independent investigations. After a complaint is received through the Commission or the Riverside Police Department, it is investigated through the Police Department by a Field or an Internal Affairs sergeant. The Commission may choose to contract with a private independent investigator to gather additional information on the case.

The complaint process is activated when the complainant files a statement against a sworn member of the Riverside Police Department (Figure 1). In order to file a complaint, a complainant must contact the Commission by phone, email, letter, or in person or the complainant must file directly with the Riverside Police Department. The RPD Internal Affairs Unit and the Commission log the complaint and the tracking process begins.

The RPD investigates all complaints; however, the CPRC reviews complaints filed solely against sworn RPD personnel that have been filed within six months of the incident.

The Internal Affairs Unit (IA) categorizes complaints as Category I or Category II complaints. Generally, Category I are the more serious complaints; whereas, Category II complaints are less serious complaints such as discourtesy and improper procedure.

The IA assigns the complaint to an investigator. Generally, Internal Affairs sergeants handle Category I and some Category II complaints.

After the RPD investigates and makes its recommendations as to each allegation in a case, RPD sends it to the Commission. Each Commissioner reviews the case independently. Then as a group, the Commission reviews the allegations and deliberates as to whether the officer’s actions were within the scope of the governing RPD’s policies and procedures for the case in question.

At times, an officer’s conduct may have been within policy; however, the CPRC’s review may lead to a recommendation to the Riverside Police Department.

Field Operations or Investigations Division supervisors generally investigate the majority of Category II complaints.

An important aspect of the complaint process is that the Commissioners have no prior knowledge of RPD's findings in a case. This process aids in each Commissioner's ability to review the evidence contained in the investigative package and arrive at an independent and unbiased conclusion before the Commission deliberates as a whole and makes its finding and / or recommendation.

The process following the Commission's finding is as follows:

- 1) The CPRC Manager meets with the City Manager to discuss each case and any recommendations made by both the Chief of Police and the Commissioners;
- 2) The City Manager makes the final decision on each allegation; and then
- 3) The Chief of Police imposes and carries out any disciplinary action if sanctioned.

It should be noted that the Commission has no role in the disciplinary process.

Case Activity

Case Tracking

The Commission uses three relevant dates to track complaints:

- 1) The date a complaint is entered into the CPRC tracking system. The Department's investigative process is monitored during this time period;
- 2) The date the Commission receives the completed investigation from RPD, and;
- 3) The date the Commission completes its review of the case. This ensures a timely response to a community member's complaint, which is beneficial to both the community member and officer.

According to Riverside Police Department Policy and Procedure 4.12 D 5 & 6, the goal of completing investigations for Category I cases is 60 calendar days, plus five calendar days for administrative processing, and for Category II cases, 30 calendar days, plus five calendar days for processing.

Figure 2 illustrates tracking of cases, using a monthly average, showing how many days elapsed from the date filed through the final Commission review. These averages do not include cases that were held for additional investigation or officer-involved death (OID) cases.

Case Dispositions

The Commission reviewed 22 complaint cases containing 61 allegations in 2014. In addition, the Commission completed its evaluation of one officer-involved death case.

Figures 3 and 4 on the following page show the disposition of cases by the Commission in 2014 and case disposition comparisons with previous years. For example, in 2013, there was an increase in the number of cases reviewed compared to 2012, while there was a decrease in the number of cases that were administratively closed.

“Inquiry” refers to cases that were ultimately determined to be questions of policy rather than accusations of misconduct against an officer. “Administratively Closed” refers to cases that were lodged but not filed nor reviewed by the Commission.

Misconduct Noted

During investigations of alleged misconduct, all aspects of an officer's actions are inspected. When a policy violation is discovered by RPD beyond that alleged by the complainant, it is classified as "Misconduct Noted" and, by definition, is a "Sustained" finding. Because the Commission makes no finding in this type of action, Misconduct Noted is no longer listed with complainant allegations or findings, but is reported separately here.

Of the complaint cases the Commission reviewed in 2013, RPD discovered two (2) instances of "Misconduct Noted" during its investigation of these complaints.

Officer-Involved Deaths

The Riverside City Charter defines the ability of the Community Police Review Commission (“the Commission”) to review and investigate officer-involved deaths. Charter Section 810, Subsection, empowers the Commission “to review and investigate the death of any individual arising out of or in connection with actions of a sworn police officer, regardless of whether a complaint regarding such death has been filed.”

The Officer-Involved Death Evaluation Process

Immediately upon the death of a person arising out of or in connection with the actions of a sworn police officer, a criminal investigation commences. The Riverside Police Department (RPD) conducts the criminal investigation, which includes gathering physical evidence, obtaining statements from involved parties and witnesses, and gathering reports from all involved officers.

The Commission can authorize an independent investigator to begin a private and independent investigation immediately following an officer-involved death incident. This independent investigation can, but does not necessarily, parallel RPD’s investigation, in time and / or substance. The goal in conducting the parallel investigation is to ensure the Commission obtains an independent, unbiased, and objective Perspective from a disinterested party, the investigator, who is contracted by and reports directly to the CPRC Manager and the Commission.

All police reports are submitted along with the Riverside County Coroner’s report to the Riverside County District Attorney’s Office for review and consideration of criminal filing. The District Attorney’s Office determines whether to file criminal charges or to close the criminal investigation. The Riverside County District Attorney’s Office notifies RPD when they complete their case and close the criminal investigation process.

Upon the close of the criminal investigation, the RPD provides a “public book” containing all police reports that have passed review by the RPD Custodian of Records and any other documents that have been cleared for public release.

The Commission then conducts a public evaluation of the incident using the information obtained from the private independent investigator and the Riverside Police Department. The Commission employs a multi-stage process to certify the information and facts obtained and to identify applicable policies, procedures, and case law. The Commission seeks additional training, when necessary, to understand the facts of the case. The Commission ultimately takes a vote during the open session (open to the public) to determine whether or not the use of force was consistent with RPD policy based on all the publicly-available information. The Commission has no role in the disciplinary process; its finding is advisory to RPD and the City Manager.

Officer-Involved Deaths

Pursuant to Ordinance 6516, the Commission has the authority to identify issues and propose recommendations to RPD for policy or procedural changes concerning an incident. The RPD can accept or reject the recommended changes; therefore, these recommendations are advisory in nature. However, RPD has accepted and changed some policies as a result of the Commission's recommendations. Commissioners can make policy or procedural recommendations on a topic arising out of discussions during a closed session; in this case, the recommendation would be discussed and approved subsequently during an open session prior to forwarding the recommendation to the Riverside Police Department. The Commission then completes a public report which is posted on the Commission's website.

Lastly, the Commission conducts a confidential, closed-door review of the incident, including deliberation of information from the Police Department's internal Administrative Review. Then, based on all available information, the Commission takes a confidential vote, also advisory in nature, deciding whether or not the use of force was consistent with RPD policy in the previous finding of the case. Additional recommendations may be identified. The case is then deemed closed.

Officer-Involved Death Evaluations: Completed

During 2014, the Commission conducted review and investigations of ## officer-involved death cases. Details of the cases and the evaluation process for each are recounted below and on the following pages.

David Ledezma

On Saturday, January 7, 2012, RPD police officers responded to a call in the 10700 block of Cypress Avenue concerning domestic violence between David Ledezma and his wife. After officers arrived, family members pointed out Mr. Ledezma as the person they had called about. The officers contacted Mr. Ledezma, who was uncooperative, angry, and refused to follow directions. He took a pocket knife from his pants pocket, opened the knife, and put it against his neck, threatening to stab himself. The officers eventually convinced him to drop it. He then walked away from the officers and picked up a large metal pipe. Several times, officers told him to drop the pipe. He refused and finally threw it at the officers, who had to move to avoid being hit by the pipe. One officer deployed his Taser, but it was ineffective. Mr. Ledezma picked up another metal pipe and walked around the yard, hitting things. Again officers told Mr. Ledezma several times to drop the pipe, which he did not do. Fearing for their safety, three officers discharged their duty weapons, striking Mr. Ledezma several times. Medical aid was called and Mr. Ledezma was transported to a local hospital where he succumbed to his injuries.

On October 23, 2013, by a vote of 7 to 0 (2 absent), the Commission found that the officers' use of deadly force was consistent with policy (RPD Policy 4.30 – Use of Force Policy), based on the objective facts and circumstances determined through the Commission's review and investigation.

On December 16, 2013, the Commission received the administrative investigation casebook. The Commission's final review of this case took place in closed session on January 22, 2014.

Officer-Involved Death Evaluations: Completed

Brandon James Dunbar

On Wednesday, March 1, 2012, two uniformed officers in a marked patrol unit stopped a vehicle for a license plate violation on Anna Street north of Lincoln Avenue. After making contact with both the driver and passenger, the officers asked both occupant to exit the vehicle. After exiting the vehicle, the passenger, later identified as Brandon James Dunbar, immediately ran away on foot. One of the officers gave chase as Mr. Dunbar ran into the backyard of a nearby residence. When Mr. Dunbar turned toward the officer, he was holding a handgun. The officer fired his handgun several times, hitting Mr. Dunbar. Because Mr. Dunbar was hit several times, the officers called for medical aid. Mr. Dunbar was taken to a local hospital where he was later pronounced deceased.

On March 12, 2014, by a vote of 8 to 0 (1 vacancy), the Commission found that the officers' use of deadly force was consistent with policy (RPD Policy 4.30 – Use of Force Policy), based on the objective facts and circumstances determined through the Commission's review and investigation.

On March 18, 2014, the Commission received the administrative investigation casebook. The Commission's final review of this case took place in closed session on March 26, 2014.

Officer-Involved Death Evaluations: In Process

Danny James Bond

On Saturday, February 18, 2012, officers with RPD's METRO unit were actively seeking Mr. Bond, who was wanted on felony assault charges. The officers, seeing Mr. Bond leave a residence on a bicycle, tried to stop him. When Mr. Bond abandoned the bicycle and tried to run from the officers, additional officers blocked his escape. Mr. Bond reached for a handgun and an officer-involved shooting occurred. Riverside Fire and AMR responded to the scene and pronounced Mr. Bond deceased.

On May 28, 2014, by a vote of 8 to 0 (1 vacancy), the Commission found that the officers' use of deadly force was consistent with policy (RPD Policy 4.30 – Use of Force Policy), based on the objective facts and circumstances determined through the Commission's review and investigation.

On June 30, 2014, the Commission received the administrative investigation casebook. The Commission's final review of this case took place in closed session on July 23, 2014.

Chaz Sherron

On Sunday, October 14, 2012, RPD's Communications Division received a call from a man, later identified as Chaz Sherron, who said he had a handgun and was going to kill himself. When uniformed officers responded to the Mr. Sherron's apartment in the 3700 block of Myers Street, they identified themselves and tried to make verbal contact with Mr. Sherron through the partially open front door. When there was no verbal response from anyone inside the apartment, officers continued to try and make verbal contact but still got no response. A male subject, Mr. Sherron, then appeared from inside the apartment pointing what looked to be a black semi-automatic handgun at the officers. In his other hand, he had a large kitchen knife. Mr. Sherron then advanced towards the officers. Fearing for their safety, four officers discharged their firearms. Mr. Sherron went down on the walkway outside his apartment and medical aid was immediately summoned. While Riverside Fire Department personnel and paramedics from American Medical Response provided immediate medical attention, Mr. Sherron was pronounced deceased at the scene.

On June 25, 2014, by a vote of 7 to 0 (1 absent; 1 vacancy), the Commission found that the officers' use of deadly force was consistent with policy (RPD Policy 4.30 – Use of Force Policy), based on the objective facts and circumstances determined through the Commission's review and investigation.

Witnesses reported that the person, later identified as Mr. Lorenzo Ciaramella, had just gotten out of a vehicle that had been stolen earlier in the evening. Upon arrival, the officers were directed to the same suspect in a different vehicle. The witnesses indicated that the suspect had just stolen this car after fleeing the first vehicle. After Mr. Ciaramella saw the officers, he fled in the stolen vehicle through the parking lot of the apartment complex. The officers followed in pursuit. The suspect vehicle fled out the west gate, but collided with another vehicle. As one of the patrol units exited the west gate, Mr. Ciaramella rammed the stolen vehicle into the driver side of the police vehicle and an officer-involved shooting occurred. Mr. Ciaramella was transported to a local hospital where he succumbed to his injuries a short time later.

When he stopped to investigate, the officer saw the passenger, later identified as Rashad Hopes, walking toward a gas station on the west side of Van Buren Boulevard. While the officer was notifying Dispatch of the incident, citizens driving by the accident were also calling in to advise that the person walking away from the vehicle had a gun. As a result of this information, additional officers arrived at the gas station to search for the person with a gun. Officers encountered Mr. Hopes at the rear portion of the building and gave him commands. When Mr. Hopes ran away from these officers, he encountered additional officers who were at the front of the building. Mr. Hopes pointed a handgun at these additional officers and an officer-involved shooting occurred. Medical aid was summoned and Mr. Hopes was pronounced deceased at the scene.

Historic Analysis

Citizen complaints filed against sworn members of the Riverside Police Department totaled 34 in 2013. That number is slightly higher than the 27 filed in 2012, but is still significantly lower than 2007 when the total reached 81. In 2009, the number of complaints filed dropped to 56 and reached an all-time low of 27 in 2012. The CPRC also reviewed 22 cases in 2013. Although the number of reviewed cases increased from the 12 reviewed in 2012, that number still remains much lower than in years passed. There were 61 separate allegations of misconduct within the 22 reviewed cases.

There were seven separate allegations of "Excessive Force" in 2013, all of which were deemed "Unfounded." It appeared alarming to note that there were 11 allegations of "Criminal Conduct" in 2013, higher than in previous years for the exception of 2009, when there were 18. The number of Criminal Conduct allegations, however, stemmed from one incident where numerous members of RPD served a search warrant in another county. Each officer that was on the scene had an allegation filed against him or her. The fact that there were only two separate incidents where Criminal Conduct was alleged minimized the concerns for the initial high number. The other Criminal Conduct incident stemmed from an allegation of a false arrest. It, too, was deemed "Unfounded" since it was the result of a valid citizen's arrest.

The La Sierra neighborhood / area had the highest number of citizen complaints filed with five (5) followed by the Downtown neighborhood / area with four (4). These two Riverside neighborhoods / areas have been consistent with averaging the higher numbers of complaints. However, as previously stated, the numbers continue to remain low when compared to the number of complaints filed in 2007. It is difficult to determine why La Sierra runs higher than all other Riverside neighborhoods / areas. It is expected in the Downtown area since the daytime population runs much higher due to high-rise businesses, offices, and retail stores. It also has a much higher rate of transient foot traffic and certain homeless individuals that are chronic law offenders who draw police contact in both self-initiated activities by officers and calls for service from members of the public.

Category 1 complaints consist of four categories of misconduct: 1) Excessive Force, 2) False Arrest, 3) Discrimination / Harassment, and 4) Criminal Conduct. Three out of the four categories resulted in complaints, the highest being 11 for Criminal Conduct, which has already been addressed. There were seven (7) allegations for Excessive Force, all of which were deemed "Unfounded." The other category, False Arrest, had one (1) allegation that was deemed "Unfounded" and was also discussed earlier. There were no complaints for Discrimination / Harassment. Category 1 complaints have remained low since 2009.

Category 2 complaints consist of six categories of misconduct: 1) Poor Service, 2) Discourtesy, 3) Improper Procedure, 4) Conduct Unbecoming an Officer, 5) Infractions, Traffic Violations and Riverside Municipal Code Violations, and 6) Other. Out of the six categories, only Discourtesy and Improper Procedure generated complaints in 2013. There were 29 total allegations for Improper Procedure, 18 of which were "Unfounded," one (1) was "Exonerated," three (3) “Not Sustained,” and six (6) were “Sustained.” There were 10 allegations of Discourtesy with seven (7) “Unfounded”, two (2) “Exonerated,” one (1) “Not Sustained,” and none “Sustained.”

These two “Category 2” allegations have consistently resulted in the highest number of complaints. However, these types of complaints have declined each year with the majority of findings being “Unfounded” or “Exonerated.”

In our analysis and assessment of the statistical data discussed in this report, the CPRC believes that the current Command Staff and training standards established for all members of the Department has continued to contribute to the declines noted in both Category 1 and Category 2 complaints. In addition, the number of “Sustained” complaints against officers has continued to decline since 2009, with “Unfounded” and “Exonerated” having remained higher.

RPD officers are held accountable for their actions while performing their duties by the leadership of the organization. They appear better trained than in years past, particularly in areas of Critical Issues and Tactics where over a year ago the instruction focused on racial profiling and personal communications. The Department also added various components of the community to assist in better understanding the various cultures in Riverside. A greater focus of training has also been in the area of dealing with mental health issues, including that of children.

Discourtesy and Improper Procedure complaints are generally the result of miscommunication between officers and members of the community. The better the officers are trained in these areas, and the better community members understand how police officers must do their job, the better the relations between the two will exist. The CPRC is in a position to help bridge the gap of understanding as well. Much of this is done through outreach efforts by commissioners. Outreach by the CPRC remains at a much higher level than in years past. Since 2012, the CPRC members have excelled in the variety of outreach events they have attended.
